[4] Water (WR)

[4.1] Water conservation program & implementations

Description :

The university has developed a water management plan as part of its efforts to implement water management and conservation, aiming to maximize the benefits and value of water and achieve sustainable water management. This includes the regular and ongoing execution of short-term projects, such as weekly water resource development activities, protection efforts, and water resource development training. The project provides clear guidelines for water resource development, contributing to improve water resource protection across more than 70% of the campus area.
